How soon do I need to save a place for my class? Our Theater for Young Audiences productions often sell out. Each year, we serve between two and three thousand students from ten school districts, as well as many private schools and home schooling groups. Please get your reservations in early to assure a place for your students.

How long does it last? When you attend Stuart Little with a student group on our Monday – Friday field trip days, the entire theatrical experience will last approximately 2 hours.

This 2 hour experience includes:

- Q&A with the cast

Are there things I can do in the classroom to enhance viewing the play? When you register, you will receive a study guide which offers ELA, STEAM, and Social Studies lesson ideas, links to teaching standards and the common core, and context information on the play, the author and adapter, and the themes of the play, all prepared by an award-winning playwright and theater educator.

How much do tickets cost? The cost is $15 per ticket – for every 10 student tickets sold we will include one complimentary adult ticket. We require a 20% non-refundable deposit to hold a reservation. The balance is due one month before the performance date.
